AFTER more than a week's preparation a writer who claims to be a Democrat of olden days comes out in a windy article, a grandstand play as it were, to deny that the spirit of that party is to return the old Democratic ring to power and indict the county with its notoriously corrupt methods.
He presumes to assail this paper for its humble efforts in forewarning the people and especially those who were not here to taste the bitterness of the cup that body of corrupt politicians dispensed to the tax payers and all who did service for the county. But this writer openly admits every charge we made and verified our review of that period. He says there were speakeasies in those days. He says there was shavering of county orders but he does not say anything about the big law suit the county had on its hands because of the acts of the last Democratic sheriff we had. He does not tell about the settlement another Democratic office holder made and how there came very nearly being serious trouble in getting that settlement. He does not tell that the settlement was finally made in a way involving numerous county orders.
He does not tell how men had to wait for months to get their county orders cashied. He fails to state anything about the way office holders of that day got rich by using the public funds and bartering in county orders. There are a great many things he purposely omits in his review of that period in the affairs of Harrison county but since it has been and is the policy of his party to hoodwink the people he is consistent in that if not in other matters and he is satisfied to pass over those things in silence. But it gratifies us to know that he corroborates us in many of the material points and since the Democratic paper endorses his statements by giving them publication, let it not henceforth attempt to refute them. It has committed itself on that score and will not dare for the sake of truth and consistency to deny that conditions were just as we briefly described them.
The records show for themselves and if there are any doubting Thomases as to what we have said and been corroborated by the Democratic sheet itself let them go and examine for themselves. They will be satisfied then that both the Telegram and the News told the truth and agree on the points at issue. The miserable low and contemptible feature of that Democratic writer's article, however, is his abuse and slander of other people in order to hide the confessions which he was forced to make for his party.
There are people though who can not write even three lines without putting the malice of sin-seared hearts into those three lines. The Democratic writer in the News is evidently one of these. In about another week after he has put his wits together and fixed up another conglomeration of nothings we may expect to read another confession of the sins of his party.

The ways of some men are hard to understand. We have in mind one who only a few months ago aspired to leadership of the people and confidently expected to be Mayor of the city of Clarksburg but he was not. Since then that same person was accredited with more or less of the hypocritical howlings for reform the Herald has indulged in and now we find him in a saloon brawl at an hour when all decent men should be in bed. Whither is his idea of reform drifting him?

OFFICES

Of the Clarksburg Ice & Storage Company Moved Up-Town.

The Clarksburg Ice & Storage Company has secured office rooms on the second floor of the Moore building on Fourth street and moved the fixtures and books of the two old offices into them Monday morning. C. E. Reddick is the temporary book-keeper.
The company will have elegant offices when they get them fitted up as they intend to do and they will find uptown offices much more convenient than if they remained at the plants.

FILIPINO FUNERALS.

Picturesque For the Rich and Pathetic For the Poor.

One of the most striking things to be seen on the streets of Manila is a Filipino funeral. If the deceased was wealthy and had hosts of friends, the funeral will be headed by a band playing selections from comic operas. The body of the deceased follows in a hearse covered with black cloth arranged in a groomsman design and drawn by six black ponies, each bedecked with headgear of long black feathers. The hearse will be followed by men on foot wearing knickerbockers and cocked hats, and after them follow innumerable vehicles of every description. If the body is to be interred, the gravediggers will precede the band, with their tools over their shoulders.

Most Filipino funerals however, are more pathetic. The father of a few weeks old baby will trot out to the cemetery entirely alone, with the little white coffin balanced well on his head, and if a man had not the price of a vehicle his remains will be carried out on bamboo poles by four Chinamen, and the coffin will be one that has seen service before.

The natives have different ways of burial. Some bodies are put into the ground, while the larger majority are placed in niches in the wall of the cemetery. A slab cemented into the opening of the niche contains a brief biography of the deceased.

Some Survivals of Fashion.

Man is unquestionably a highly rational being. Still, if you travel and observe, from the mouth of the Danube to the Golden Gate you will find most men wearing a coat with a useless collar marked with a useless V shaped slash and decorated with two useless buttons at the small of the back and one or two more useless buttons at the cuffs. The collar, the slash and the buttons are there in answer to no rational need. It is not a common climate nor a common racial need of protection against climate that they represent, but a common civilization whose form and ritual they mutely confess.
Over this entire area those who aspire to be of the Brahman caste deck their heads for wedding, funeral and feast with a black cylindrical covering, suited, so far as we can discern, neither to avert the weapon of the adversary or the dart of the rain nor to provide a seat whereon man may sit and rest himself. And as for the women contained within this same area we behold that the amplitude of the sleeve, the disposition of the belt and the outline of the skirt all obey the rise and fall of one resistless tide which neither moon nor seasons control—Benjamin de Wheeler in Atlantic.

CUT STONE

Will be Used Entirely for Jail and Sheriff's Residence.

County Court Passes on Order Changing Material.

The county court passed a very important order just before final adjournment yesterday afternoon in reference to the proposed jail and sheriff's residence. It was the original intention to make the jail of cut stone and the residence of brick veneer, but the court decided to build both of cut stone. Arrangements were made with the contractors, Elliott & Winchell, of Zanesville, Ohio, for this change at an additional cost of $4,364, making a total cost of $37,364 instead of $33,000.
The contractors have not yet given bond but expect to in a few days.
The Paul system of steam heating was also decided upon instead of the gravity system.

GALORE

Are the Civil Suits in Magistrates' Courts.

The greater part of the time and attention of the justices of the peace here are being devoted to civil suits these days. In justice Samuel W.
Gordon's court the past week forty five civil actions were docketed. Justices James N. David and M. S. Riley are also busy with matters of this nature.

RELATIVE DIES

lie Wells.

Miss Mary Ann Cleggett, aged 40 years, died at her home in Uniontown, Pa., Saturday as a result of rheumatism. The deceased was a cousin of H. L. Wells and Mrs. John H. Hay-maker, of this city. Mr. Wells left for that city on the early train Monday morning to attend the funeral on Tuesday.

Funeral of Robert Criss

The funeral of the late Robert Criss Jr., was held at his father's residence on Mechanic street at 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. H. G. Richardson, of the Central Presbyterian church. The interment was in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Amusements

The Village Parson.

"The Village Parson," a new drama, will be presented at the Grand Dec.
19, and with a well balanced company.
The play has not only a well-constructed plot, but is of intense interest throughout. There are a great many powerful situations in the piece. In act first, where a husband and wife separate, the scene becomes one of heartfelt interest and brings copious tears to the auditors. The situation in act two is another strong scene in which little Myrtle, the blind child, does some very clever and earnest work, and holds the audience with closest attention. The play presents a number of excellent climaxes which enthrall all present. "The Village Parson" will be given with complete stage settings, the scenery being brought here by the management.
The company includes actors of recognized ability.

"Gypsy Jack," Jan. 23

Despite the apparent sway of farce comedy and "show girl" performances, the old-fashioned melodrama still claims its devoted adherents. That this is so, without a doubt, is practically proven by the unstinted success which has greeted Willis Granger during his present tour with "Gypsy Jack." Not only is Manager Edward C. White highly pleased with the reception which has greeted his new star, but the latter has, by his intrinsic worth as a melo-dramatic actor, proven his fitness for the role of the gypsy boy, which is the leading character in the production.

Miss Katherine Willard is adding new laurels to her reputation by her rendition of "Aria" in the emotional drama, "The Power Behind the Throne." Miss Willard has proved her ability and exceptional talents in the production, so much so that her tour is one continuous ovation. Nothing is lacking in scenic effect, stage mechanism or costuming to keep "The Power Behind the Throne" up to the topmost standard, while the star's support "play up to her" with admirable skill.

The Tide of Life

Effingham, Ill., Nov. 7, 1902.
"The Tide of Life" played my house on November 7, to a big house and gave entire satisfaction. The company is a well selected one and the scenery and electrical effects extraordinary. The specialties far surpass any presented here so far this season.

FOR LITTLE

How to Make a Rag Doll That Can Be Dressed and Undressed.
A rag baby is a thing of beauty to a very little girl, and it is much more satisfactory than the more fragile things that she gets as she grows up. The reason little girls discard rag dolls is because as soon as they get big enough to dress and undress their dolly they want one that can be so cared for, and as the rag dolls from time immemorial have been made with their clothes sewed on, they have been discarded for those that could be clothed in chemise, petticoats, skirts, aprons and waists.
But here is a rag doll that can be made by any little girl that can sew, and the doll may be dressed and un-dressed.

Cut a pattern in strong, unbleached muslin twice, like Fig. 1, and for the arms like Fig. 2. Stitch the two No. 1's together with a narrow, strong seam and then turn right side out, leaving a place near the waist for the insertion of the stuffing. Stuff the legs and HOW TO MAKE A RAG DOLL.

head with cotton and the body with hair or excelsior. Next sew up the arm patterns, stuff them with cotton and sew them on, and the framework of dolly is complete.

The painting of the face should be done with water color paints, and you must have brown, ochre yellow, black, blue, vermilion and white. Sketch the features with a pencil and then put on light brown hair, mixing brown and ocher paints. The eyebrows should be brown and the eyes blue. Use the vermilion for the lips and mixed with white for the cheeks. The result will be a fine face.

A Good Game.

Any number of boys and girls may play this game. It requires no preparation, but the wits of the players must be bright and alert to make it a success.

The leader asks each player in turn what he planted in his garden, and the player may name any article he chooses, but the thing that "came up" must be some plant that has a connection with the article. The answers cannot, therefore, always be given instantly, as a little thought may be necessary to make the answer good. That, however, will make the game all the more entertaining.

Here are a few answers that show how the game should be played:

"I planted some steps, and they came up hops."

"I planted a ball, and it came up a rubber plant."

"I planted a calendar, and it came up dates."

"I planted a watch, and it came up a four o'clock."

How Giraffes Are Caught.

The Somalis, a tribe of hunters living in the eastern part of southern Africa, capture the young giraffe by means of the lasso. Sometimes this is used from the back of a horse, but more often the Somalis lie in ambush for the animals, and then, carefully waiting for a favorable chance, they cast the nooses over their heads. The young creatures are then hobbled so that they cannot run or stray far away and in a few days become perfectly tame and docile, though always timid and shy. They are readily sold to dealers in wild animals, always on the lookout to fulfill commissions from the owners of some menagerie, circus or zoological garden.—F. R.

The Melted Coin.

Place the coin in half a walnut shell and fill the shell with a mixture of three parts of dry, powdered niter, one part of flour of sulphur and a little sawdust, well sifted. Light it, and when the mixture is melted it will be seen that the coin is also melted, the shell not having sustained any injury.

Little Boy Blue and His Tin Soldier.
He stood on the lid of the nursery stove.
Brave little soldier of lead.
Carelessly left there by Little Boy Blue
As he noisily trudged to bed.

He was dressed in a suit of the brightest red,
And he wore an expansive smile,
And he thought to himself, with a soldier's pride,
"They've put me on guard for awhile!"

The lid glowed red from the scorching heat
Of the terrible flames below, And the soldier sighed as his coat peeled off.

For he hadn't another, you know!
Then he lost his smile and his eyebrow, too,
And he thrilled with a vague dismay As his gun curled up with the terrible
heat:

Yet he would not run away.

Little Boy Blue when the morning came Searched for the soldier in red, But all he found on the nursery stove Was a shapeless lump of lead!
